MIME'S THE WORD THIS HALLOWEEN!

October 1, 2009 - Odonnell Company, a full service marketing agency in New Haven, CT, is getting into the Halloween spirit this month with a spooky performance by a very talented mime in their front window. On October 29th and 30th, from 11:30 - 1:30, all who are curious can walk by Odonnell Company, located at 760 Chapel Street for the show. Ghoulish goodies will be given away to those who come to watch the performance.

Catherine Gasta, a professional actress, will be entertaining the crowd with her striking and spooky miming abilities. With a background in mime and movement, she has mimed at a Bastille Day celebration as well as performed as a living statue in New York. Assisting her throughout the performance will be Sarah Skrip, who is a performance major and was recently in a New Haven production of Godspell.

Odonnell Company actively supports the art community in the New Haven area through sponsoring art events such as Made Space, Somewhat Off the Wall and Exact Change, in addition to participating in them as well. In 2008, they took part in City Wide Open Studios and opened their doors to visitors who were interested in seeing the artwork made by those who work there.
